Anti-Oxidant Alkaline Water Filter

- If you're already using a reverse osmosis filtration system to eliminate contaminants from your drinking water, well done: you're well on the way to drinking clean, healthy water. With that being said, the water you are getting is not alkaline.
- The reason for this is that while your system works well at removing impurities, it also removes minerals in the process (some examples of minerals are nitrate and metals-based drugs - but also calcium and magnesium - unfortunately you can't just remove the bad and leave the good). The consequent drinking water is slightly acidic rather than alkaline.
- Adding the Biocera® Alkaline Inline Filter Cartridge to your existing reverse osmosis system replaces minerals that are removed by the filtration process and creates more alkaline water.

There are many reasons that people are looking for more alkaline water.

- To help balance the body's pH which can neutralize internal acidity.
- To scavenge harmful free radicals, converting them into oxygen to better hydrate cells.
- To prevent calcium and magnesium being leached from bones.
- To will encourage proper detoxification of blood and tissues.
- To provide the body with electrolytes needed to metabolise a number of vital nutrients.
- To help break-down and flush out many of the acidic contaminants that can build up in your blood and tissues due to poor diet, high stress levels or exposure to environmental pollutants.
- That it tastes cleaner and crisper than ordinary filtered water.

How does the Biocera filter work?

The Biocera alkaline antioxidant cartridge uses several combinations of minerals. As the water passes through this filter, it is changed in several ways:

- The pH of the filtered water is increased. Typically to between 8 and 9.
- The water's Oxidation Reduction Potential (ORP) is changed to between -100mV and -250mV. This is thought to give the water antioxidant properties due to the release of molecular hydrogen.
- By using Tourmaline it reduces the size of the water molecule clusters. This is thought to make it easier for the body to absorb. It also emits far infrared rays which are thought to have healing properties.
- The water is infused with alkaline minerals such as potassium, magnesium and calcium.

Approximate mineral quantity added with a Biocera filter

| MINERAL        | UNIT | RESULT |
|----------------|------|--------|
| Ca (Calcium)   | mg/L | 17.8   |
| K (Potassium)  | mg/L | 1.92   |
| Mg (Magnesium) | mg/L | 12.3   |
| Na (Sodium)    | mg/L | 4.06   |

A word about health and alkaline water

We at Watermart are water treatment experts - not health professionals. We can not say for sure whether the reported health advantages of consuming alkaline water from any water treatment methodology are real. (The internet is rife with contradictory reports on this topic). That said, we have had a deluge of requests to supply alkaline drinking water. And of dozen or so methodologies we have explored over the past 10 years (including dedicated alkaline water systems such as Jupiter and Kangen, for which we have distributorships) using the Biocera in conjunction with a quality water filtration system filter offered the cleanest water with the most consistent pH, mineral count, ORP and lifespan. Given the NSF Certification, we are also assured that it does no harm and the best case scenario is that our customers experience some (or all) of the advertised health advantages.
